Join Sabrina Kamran from Ximbio, on Tuesday, February 11th to gain an insight into working in technology transfer and discover how you can gain valuable tech transfer experience.

Explore:
- Sabrina’s career path
- the partnership between Yale and Ximbio
- a paid, part-time internship for Yale PhD students and Post-Docs within technology transfer

Sabrina Kamran joined Ximbio in 2019 after completing her doctorate in Pharmacology and a Technology Entrepreneurial Certificate (Foster School of Business) at the University of Washington. She currently manages institutional partnerships and Ximbassador programs across the United States and Canada.

Ximbio is the world’s largest non-profit dedicated to life science research reagents of all kinds. It is part of Cancer Research UK.